One of the cheapest ways to store water is to use plastic jugs. You can find these jugs at most grocery stores for a few dollars each. Just make sure to wash them thoroughly before filling them with water.

Another option is to use water bladders. These bladders are made of a durable material that can be folded up when not in use. They're also BPA-free, so you can be sure that your water is safe to drink.

Food

Food is another essential item for survival. You need to eat to stay alive and healthy. But what if you don't have access to fresh food? That's where canned goods come in.

Canned goods are a great way to store food for long periods of time. They're also relatively inexpensive. You can find canned goods at most grocery stores for a few dollars per can.

When choosing canned goods, be sure to select items that are high in calories and nutrients. Some good options include canned beans, canned tuna, and canned fruit.

Shelter

Shelter is essential for protection from the elements. If you don't have access to a permanent shelter, you'll need to find a way to create a temporary shelter.

One of the cheapest ways to create a temporary shelter is to use a tarp. Tarps are waterproof and can be used to create a makeshift shelter from the rain, sun, and wind.

Another option is to use a tent. Tents are more expensive than tarps, but they offer more protection from the elements. If you can afford it, a tent is a good investment for emergency preparedness.

First Aid

A first aid kit is essential for treating minor injuries. It should include items such as bandages, antiseptic wipes, and pain relievers.

You can find first aid kits at most drug stores and supermarkets. They typically cost between $10 and $20.

Tools

Tools can be used to perform a variety of tasks, such as building a shelter, starting a fire, and preparing food.

Some essential tools for survival include a knife, an axe, and a multi-tool. You can find these tools at most hardware stores.
