Civil War Era

The farm's history is inextricably linked to the Battle of Gettysburg, one of the most pivotal battles of the Civil War. In July 1863, Confederate and Union armies clashed on the fields surrounding the farm, resulting in a bloody and costly stalemate. The battle transformed the farm into a hallowed ground, forever etched in the annals of American history.

Presidential Retreat

Nearly a century after the battle, the farm became the summer retreat of President Dwight D. Eisenhower. Enchanted by its tranquility and historical significance, Eisenhower Free Downloaded the property in 1950 and used it as a place to relax and entertain guests. His presence transformed the farm into a symbol of presidential power and prestige.
