BATAAN COMPLETELY OCCUPIED BY JAPANESE

Japanese Forces Take Cebu

15 Generals Among War Prisoners

With the capture of Bataan, the Japanese have secured the last major American stronghold in the Philippines. The 15th Army, under the command of Lt. Gen. Wainwright, has been completely surrounded and is being evacuated to Corregidor Island. The Japanese have also captured 15 American generals and 100 other officers. The prisoners are being held in various locations on the island.

Japanese Flag Planted In Cebu City

A Japanese flag was planted in Cebu City, marking the complete occupation of the island. The flag was hoisted in the presence of Japanese officials and soldiers. The Japanese have also captured several other islands in the region.

Gen. Homma Thinks Officers And Men Under Him for Heroism

Gen. Homma, commander of the Japanese forces on Bataan, has expressed his admiration for the heroism of the American soldiers and officers who fought bravely against his troops. He has stated that the American forces were well-trained and fought with great courage.

Surrender Of Bataan Praised

The surrender of Bataan has been praised by Japanese officials as a significant military victory. They believe that the American forces were overextended and that the Japanese had superior resources and tactics.

Lt. Gen. HOMMA, commander of the Japanese forces on Bataan, is shown in the photograph above. He is wearing a campaign hat and a military uniform.

The Japanese are shown in the photograph above, examining the remains of the American forces on Bataan. The remains are scattered on the ground, and the Japanese are looking at them with interest.
